DETAILED ACTION

Priority

Applicant's claim for the benefit of a prior-filed application under 35 U.S.C. 119(e) or under 35 U.S.C. 120, 121, or 365(c) is acknowledged. Applicant has not complied with one or more conditions for receiving the benefit of an earlier filing date under 35 U.S.C. 120 as follows:

The later-filed application must be an application for a patent for an invention which is also disclosed in the prior application (the parent or original nonprovisional application or provisional application). The disclosure of the invention in the parent application and in the later-filed application must be sufficient to comply with the requirements of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112. See Transco Products, Inc. v. Performance Contracting, Inc., 38 F.3d 551, 32 USPQ2d 1077 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

The disclosure of the prior-filed applications, No. 09/553915, 09/439934, and 09/298604 fails to provide adequate support or enablement in the manner provided by the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112 for one or more claims of this application. Application number 10/004,102 (10/23/2001) include disclosure directed to the feature of utilizing a satellite communications system across a gaming network as found in presented in pending claims 1-6. Accordingly the date of priority for the claimed features of utilizing a satellite communications system across a gaming network is found by the Examiner to be the filing date of Application 10/004,102, October 23rd, 2001.

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement submitted April 12th, 2004 has been reviewed by the Examiner and a copy of said statement including the Examiner's notation is included for the Applicant's records.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) and 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Vuong et al (US 5,762,552).

Vuong teaches a interactive real-time network gaming system including a plurality of remotely located network managers or servers (Elm 40) in communication through a satellite communication pathway (Col 5:24-35 Col 7:66-8:14), and wherein each network manager is further functionally connected to a plurality of gaming devices (Figures 1, 2) so as to allow game patrons at a first location to participate in or utilize games at a second location and vise versa (Abstract, Figure 1).

Claim features directed to the utilization of a first and second territory as a Sovereign Indian Land or United States State as provided in claims 4 through 6 describe the intended use of an apparatus and not define or modify the gaming communication apparatus as set forth in claims 1 through 3. Accordingly these claims are understood as anticipated by the system of Vuong as set forth above.

While features of an apparatus may be recited either structurally or functionally, claims directed to an apparatus must be distinguished from the prior art in terms of structure rather than function. In re Schreiber, 128 F.3d 1473, 1477-78, 44 USPQ2d 1429, 1431-32 (Fed. Cir. 1997) (The absence of a disclosure in a prior art reference relating to function did not defeat the Board's finding of anticipation of claimed apparatus because the limitations at issue were found to be inherent in the prior art reference); see also In re Swinehart, 439 F.2d 210, 212-13, 169 USPQ 226, 228-29 (CCPA 1971); In re Danly, 263 F.2d 844, 847, 120 USPQ 528, 531 (CCPA 1959). "[A]pparatus claims cover what a device is, not what a device does." Hewlett-Packard Co. v. Bausch & Lomb Inc., 909 F.2d 1464, 1469, 15 USPQ2d 1525, 1528 (Fed. Cir. 1990).

A claim containing a "recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus" if the prior art apparatus teaches all the structural limitations of the claim. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1987).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 4-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Vuong et al (US 5,762,552) as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Karmarkar et al (US 6,508,709).

Claims 4-6 are rejected above under Vuong under the holding that the presented geographic selections for the first and second territories fails to modify the communication apparatus as set forth in claim 1. Alternatively if it was to be established that the particular geographical location was to modify the apparatus of claim the following additional rejection is presented for claims 4-6.

Vuong teaches the interactive real-time network gaming system as set forth above however is arguably silent regarding the use of a United States State or Sovereign Indian Land. In a related remote gaming device however Karmarkar teaches that such device may be located in a Sovereign State or Indian Territory (Figure 5, 7, Col 8:21-28; 12:64-13:15). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to have located the invention of Vuong in multiple Sovereign States or Indian Territories in order to utilize locations with legal gambling and allow those locations to maximize the use of their wagering devices.
